I've loved cartoons, and anime ever since I could remember and I want to share that same joy with you. Living in a 6 family household with only two bedrooms and 1 bathroom there were only a few joys that I had, family/friends' video games, anime, and cartoons. That love of anime & cartoons never changed even today as a college student today I still love them. Here are just a few to get you started.

On a quest to find his family, Yugo and his friends undergo a journey to find his lost brethren & and learn about the mystical Wakfu. There are tons of characters like Percepal, an lop who's a knight with a cursed weapon. Amalia is a princess with chlorokinesis. Ruel is a slightly materialistic Entroupf. Evangelyne is a master archer with magical arrows! Going against Nox and his quest to turn back time. Showing themes of friendship, such as the growing friendships of Percedal and Yugo and the group. There are even romantic subplots later in the series too. But above, all there's action and danger! I'm talking about scraping, bare-knuckle brawling. Themes include family such as it being more than familial ties. But most of all this story is action packed and full of adventure. You can find this show on Netflix!

Fate
フェイト/ゼロ

Get ready for a battle royale! 7 classes with only one Holy Grail! With only one winner who will prevail, lovers of mythology will have a field day with this one! From the egotistical to the compassionate with some many characters it's anybody's game. With complex themes such as the the epitome of fear, and what it truly means to be alive! As the story progresses it progressive get even more somber. You can find this lovely show on Netttflix!

Yu Yu Hakusho is a world full of spiritual creatures from demons and humans alike. Yusuke Urameshi, a delinquent teen in high school, changes his life forever when he watches as a kid is about to get hit by an oncoming car. Yusuke sacrifices his life to save the kid, only to be greeted by death herself, Botan. After Botan tells him of the fate of the child and comments on his remarkable decision, Yusuke is thrown into a new world as a spirit detective. Older fans of anime consider this a cult classic.

In this series set in Tokyo, Japan, humans are not the top of the food chain. Instead of it being humans they are ghouls, a cannibal species who prey on humans and love the taste of coffee. Despite this, humans try to fight back with CCG, a task force that exterminates with extreme prejudice. Enter Ken Kaneki, a college student. One fateful day Kaneki, our black haired protagonist, along with his best friend Hide with yellowish orange hair, encounters Rize, a mysterious woman with violet hair. Egging his friend on, Hide convinces Kaneki to ask Rize on a date. This decision will change his life forever.

During his date with Rize, Kaneki notes that she isn't eating any food. They also both share the same love for books. After their date Rize is walking with Kaneki in an abandoned construction zone, where she reveals her true nature as a ghoul! Rize attacks Kaneki, and he attempts to flee, only for a construction pillar to crash down on them. Kaneki wakes up in the hospital. With Rize's fate up in the air, he must now live in a new world. Is Kaneki a man or monster? Read the manga to find out!

In a land where science and magic go hand-in-hand, two brothers try to rectify a mistake— the mistake being trying to resurrect their dead mother using forbidden alchemy. Alchemy is a type of magic where one state of matter can be changed to another. Edward (one of the brothers) literally loses an arm and a leg to try to resurrect his mother, while his young brother Alphonse has his soul trapped in a suit of armor. Together they attempt to restore their body and save the world. Found on Netflix!

Luz, a kooky kid is forced to go to summer camp instead she runs off and finds herself in a land of magic and wonder! Yearning to find her way back home she now finds herself in the Boiling Isles. What I love about this show is the magic and animation. It's not only full of action, it also has great world building. In this new world there is a plethora of magic to be seen from illusion to abomination. There is a lovable cast of characters such as Gus an illusion prodigy, King the self-proclaimed demon king, and Eda a criminal magician with a curse. Will Luz find her way home only one way to find the show on On Demand or Disney+!
